

We have an active-high at 001, 100-110, as shown on our voltage table. These voltages are matching based on whether the signal is active high or active low, therefore they should match.